MAIL GLEANINGS.

IT HAS BEEN TRUTHFULLY OBSERVED that Pittsburgh will not support a thoroughly live and enterprising newspaper—such as could make its influence and importance felt throughout the nation. It is equally true that no section of country so eminently stands in need of such a journal to advocate and maintain the interests and rights of a large manufacturing element. The advertising patronage bestowed upon the Pittsburgh press to-day, will, in no manner, compare favorably with that bestowed upon journals of other cities of equal importance. For instance, in Cincinnati, the last quarterly return of cash receipts from advertising of the Commercial—a paper which devotes less space to accommodate advertisers than does any journal here, with perhaps, a single exception—was over forty-two thousand dollars. Against this, our journal, making the highest return of any Pittsburgh daily paper for the same quarter, only reached a little over fifteen thousand dollars. Under such circumstances, how could we, or any of our contemporaries, be expected to publish a paper that would compare with the Cincinnati Commercial? Immense capital may be wasted in the effort to establish and keep up such a journal but until the manufacturers and merchants are willing to accord a more liberal advertising patronage to the press, the result will be futile. While we cite the prosperity of the Cincinnati Commercial over our own city press we may be permitted to add testimony to its sterling worth and enterprise. It is a pride not only to the city in which it is published, but likewise to the entire west, and we are pleased to chronicle its continued success.

A HANDSOME YOUNG LADY was arrested in Chicago on Monday on a charge of endeavoring to pass a counterfeit one-hundred dollar note upon a shop keeper. On her way to the tombs, she met a gentleman who appeared to be a familiar acquaintance She told him the circumstances of the arrest, claiming that "the bill her mother had mailed to her" was a counterfeit. The stranger remonstrated against the arrest till he excited the suspicions of the police to such an extent as to cause his arrest. It turned out that both were professional shovers of the "queer," and several thousand dollars worth of the stuff was found in their possession.

SOME OF THE NEW England folks are too pious to live. As a sample of them we have Norwich, Ct., where the parties of the different churches have issued a circular disapproving the "freqent and growing practice of burying the dead on the Lord's day." They have unanimously decided to attend no funeral service on the Sabbath, unless in cases of great necessity. Why not forbid people dying on the Lord's day?

A TRAVELING humbug has taken up rooms at New Albany, Indiana, and proposes to cure all manner of diseases by the imposition of hands. A fellow last winter fooled our citizens by such "laying on" of hands, and if he again makes his appearance here, we think the game might be wisely reversed.

EDITORIALLY the Chicago Republican thinks that "Young Chicago is attaining its statue with a degree of expedition unparalleled in the experience of adolescence, and prescribed limits to its waistband at any stage of that progression will not be tolerated."

AT CICERO, a part and parcel of Chicago, a German saloon keeper named Peter Schlapp, shot and instantly killed an Irishman named Finan, who was engaged in raising a "muss." The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable murder.

TO SUPPRESS the rebellion Illinois furnished 256,297 men. The number of militia in the State subject to service is 357, 541, or one to every six in the population. Ohio furnished the late army with 310,000 men.

THE "People's popular hell exploded," was the startling subject of a sermon in a Pittsburgh church a short time since. We heard no objections expressed, nor did we receive any report of the explosion.

A CLERGYMAN of New Albany, Indiana, is to preach on Popular Amusements from the text, Zach. 8—5: "And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof.

A MANUFACTURING COMPANY, under the style of Nixon & Co., has been established at Alliance, Ohio, with a capital of $150,000. Iron machinery, engines, boilers, &c., are to be manufactured.

THE Protectionists throughout the country are using every means within their power to secure at the coming session of Congress the passage of the tariff bill through the Senate.

THERE are 90,000 miles of telegraph in America, while Europe has but 60,000 miles. We have 36,000 miles of railway against their 30,000 miles.

GOV. EVANS, of Colorado, has contributed $25,000 for endowment of a Chair of Mental and Moral Philosophy, in the University at Evanston.

A WRITER OF Chicago advocates the establishment of a Central City College and a High School in each of the great divisions of the city.

LIEUT. GOV. BROSS, of Illinois, is lecturing upon the beauties and curiosities of the central and western portions of our Continent.

NEXT Friday will be St. Andrew's Day, a day generally observed by the Sons o Scotia for the honor of their patron saint.

REV. GEO. W. MALLEY, a well known Methodist minister, is lying at the point of death in Cincinnati.

FIVE thousand six hundred bales of cotton were shipped from Nashville last month.

JOHN B. CHAPRON, of the Philadelphia Legal Fraternity, died last Sunday, in that city.

THE first quart of water that comes through the great Chicago tunnel will be placed in a glass jar and kept, as a trophy of the enterprise, in Col. Wood's Museum.

HENRY CHRISTIE, one of the defenders of Baltimore in 1814, died last Sunday.

Two daily papers of Nashville have just been consolidated into one.

RISTORI is at Baltimore, at the Holliday Street Theatre.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

PENNSYLVANIA. SS:

In the name and by the authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of said Commonwealth.

L. S. } A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, It has been the good and worthy custom of the Commonwealth to set apart, annually, a day for the special acknowledgment of the goodness of the Almighty and for expressing by the whole people, at one time, and with a common voice, the THANKS and PRAISE which throughout the year are springing from the hearts of men, therefore,

I, ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do by this my proclamation, recommend that the good people of the commonwealth observe

Thursday, 29th day November, 1866,

As a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, and do then assemble in their respective Churches and places of worship and make their humble thank offering to ALMIGHTY GOD for all His blessings during the past year.

For the abundant gathered fruits of the earth;

For the thus far continued activity of industry;

For the general preservation of health;

And especially for that in His DIVINE MERCY, He hath stayed the destroying pestilence.

And moreover that they do beseech Him to continue unto us all His blessings, and to confirm the hearts of the people of these united States, that by the lawful force of their will, deeds of good Justice, Wisdom and Mercy may be done.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this 9th day of October, in the year of our Lord, 1866, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-first.

BY THE GOVERNOR: ELI SLIFER,

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The Herald, this morning, advocates the consideration of the pending questions between the United States and Great Britain, even by arbitration.

The London Times says Her Majesty's government contemplates empowering a Commissioner to enquire into the operation of the navigation laws, and report on the possibility of amending them so as to bring about a more complete conformity with international obligations. This enquiry will not preclude future steps with regard to the adjustment of the Alabama claims, which are still under consideration by the Government, and must be certain of their own merits.

The Liverpool Financial and Commercial Association had adopted the following resolution: That it is the opinion of this association that the sellers of cotton shipped from October, Dec. 1st, 1866, fully accept the responsibility in respect to fraudulently or falsely packed, damaged or unmerchantable cotton, which has of late been so frequently found in dispute between the buyer and seller, and that after that date, claims for such returns should be allowed for out of the value of the sound cotton at the date of return, if in which ten days and three months from the date of purchase.

The search and seizure of all sorts of foreign rumors, this afternoon, as to the relations with England, Mexico, &c., but though these are pretty well understood to be the merest inventions, the speculators have used them with success to run up the price of gold. Several "per cent." parties, who bought it at 139½ last week, are now enabled to sell out at a handsome profit.

Judge Betts delivered an important decision yesterday, in the case of the Chilian privateer, the Meteor, which required a very close analysis of the principles of neutrality. The Meteor was condemned upon this argument.

Against Impeachment.

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—The Republican papers in this city are taking ground against the impeachment of President Johnson, Congress being master of the situation they contend that so violent a step as impeachment is wholly unnecessary; and, they declare further, that Massachusetts will not follow Butler in this matter. Forwarding Troops—D'Arcy McGee Resigns—The Trials—Stephens.

MONTREAL, November 27.—The Government has concluded to forward all the regular troops in the Provinces to the frontier, between Niagara and Windsor. The Government has erected a new military shed in this city, which was opened this morning to receive a large quantity of ammunition and gun carriages, besides a large amount of military stores used by an army in the field.

A rumor is current in this city that D'Arcy McGee has resigned his position in the Cabinet.

Parties visited the jail to-day with Consul General Averill and B. Devlin, the Queen's counsel, who found the prisoners confined in very dark and dirty cells, crowded together without any regard to their health. There are two of the prisoners confined in the condemned cells and allowed only one meal a day. Through the exertions of the Consul General they were released. The prisoners are very hopeful and confident of being acquitted now that General Averill has arrived, who has been instrumental in looking after them. The militia are to be ordered out in this district to do guard during the trials.

The Canadian officials claim that James Stephens left New York, on saturday, for Liverpool, accompanied by a large military staff, who were all disguised. Stephens was dressed in black citizens clothes, and had his whiskers shaved clean from his face. They were accompanied by an English detective.

Horace Greeley on the Situation—The Impeachment Question.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Horace Greeley defines his position at length in the Tribune. We quote one paragraph: "I am for universal amnesty so far as immunity from fear of punishment or confiscation is concerned, even though impartial suffrage should be for the present resisted and defeated. I did think it desirable that Jefferson Davis should be arraigned and tried for treason, and it still seems to me that this might properly have been done many months ago, but it was not then done, and now I believe it would result in far more evil than good. It would rekindle passions that have nearly burned out or been hushed to sleep. It would fearfully convulse and agitate the South. It would arrest the progress of reconciliation and kindly feeling. Then it would cost a large sum directly, and a far larger indirectly, and unless the jury were scandalously packed, it would result in a non-acquittal or non-verdict. I can imagine no good end to be subserved by such a trial, and holding Davis to be neither better nor worse than thousands of others, would have him treated as such.

The Times, in alluding to the talk of impeachment, says: The rumors of forcible resistance to such an attempt are simply absurd. Congress and the House has a right to bring forward such a proposition, and if it is sustained by two-thirds of the House, it must be sent to the Senate for trial. Neither the President nor anybody else has any right to declare forcible resistance to such a thing, nor is it easy, indeed, to see where such resistance could begin.

Capital for the South—Railroad Grant.

WASHINGTON, November 27.—Judge Whitaker, of New Orleans, who has been in this city for some days on an important mission, looking to the bringing of capital Southward, has succeeded to his entire satisfaction, having conferred freely with Northern gentlemen now here. He leaves to-morrow for home to urge upon the people of the South their industrial interests, instead of political agitation.

Mr. La Reintrie, late of the State Department, has replied to the card of Mr. Hargous, published in the New York papers, in which it appears that the Tehauntepec Railroad grant was not made in consideration of a hundred thousand dollars. This sum was only a security given, to be forfeited on failure to comply with the conditions of the grant. President Juarez expresses great confidence in the new company, which embraces among its members General U. S. Grant.

The old company have lost all chance of favor by having applied to Maximillian for a renewal of their grant.

Petroleum has been discovered near this city and the Northern Company will at once proceed to sink wells.

In the Cabinet meeting to-day the President's message had a final reading and was sent to the printer. Copies will be ready to-morrow for mailing to the distant press.

The Freezing Point of Rebel Coolness—Amount in Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Ex-rebel General Edward Johnson, having been recently pardoned by the President, called to-day, and upon Treasurer Spinner for the payment of a check for three or four hundred dollars due to him, on settlement, as a Major in the United States army in 1861, before he joined the army of the Confederacy. The Treasurer refused the payment in a manner which was anything but pleasant to the applicant.

The Government has in its Treasury about $100,000,000 of legal tender and coin certificates; about $22,000,000 of the latter.

Blue Line Railway—Thad. Stevens and Impeachment.

BUFFALO, Nov. 27.—The third rail on the Great Western Railway, to enable the cars on the New York Central and Michigan Central roads to run on it, will be soon laid. The great Western and other roads are then to put on a through express night line between New York, Boston and the West, to be known as the Blue Line.

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser says: We have received from Washington the following: "The private dispatches in circulation here that Thad. Stevens has called a caucus of Republican members to meet on Thursday to bring about a concert of action for impeaching the President.

The Condemned Fenians—Concentration of British Troops.

Mr. Tilton's Lecture.

Last evening Mr. Theodore Tilton delivered before the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association, in the Academy of Music, a speech or lecture on Reconstruction. He considered the three points, when, by whom, and on what conditions the Union should be reconstituted. The work was in the hands of Congress by the universal judgment of the people, to be accomplished on the basis of the equal, civil and political rights of all loyal citizens without distinction of color and race. On such a basis he would have asked for the readmission of the Rebel States on the first day after the rebellion, but until the Rebel States can be brought back on terms of justice to their black loyalists, let these haughty States stand and wait outside like the king in the snow at the Pope's door. The question is not whether these States are in or out of the Union, but whether they shall be in or out of Congress. If during the war they were in the Union, and yet out of Congress, so now during peace they can be in the Union and yet out of Congress. Andrew Johnson's policy had ceased to become a public question. The people had dismissed it from their consideration. The French Academy, said the speaker, has discovered that the human body after death utters a murmuring sound for fifteen hours. So Andrew Johnson will continue to groan a while longer, but he came to his end on the 7th of November. What policy, therefore, shall take the place of the President's? Mr. Tilton then followed in an elaborate review of the Congressional plan of reconstruction, arguing that the chief and most important feature of this plan was not the pending Constitutional Amendment, but the future provision by Congress for giving to the unreconstructed States legitimate and loyal governments, in place of the usurped and bogus governments which exist there now. Congress has never delegated itself, neither can anybody else pledge it, to readmit these States on the adoption of the pending amendment. This amendment is unjust. It leaves the political fate of the negro to be decided by the rebels. On the contrary, the Federal government, if it was bound to secure to the negro civil rights, was and is equally bound to secure his political rights. Under the amendment the Rebel States could make a wholesale business of disfranchisement, South Carolina could disfranchise the negro, Georgia the Irishman, Mississippi the German, and every rebel State the Yankee. Shall statesmen of Massachusetts consent to such a surrender by the Federal Government to the rebel Legislatures of the political rights of all classes of American citizens? The only safe plan is impartial suffrage secured by constitutional amendment in the States North and South. Mr. Tilton drew an analytical distinction between universal and impartial suffrage. At present suffrage is limited by age, sex, color, morality and intelligence. There is no universal suffrage. Fix the standard of morality, which in any citizen can comply with it, then let him vote, whether he be white or black. It ignores the ballot-box let it exclude ignorant men of one color as well as of another. He demanded that the great party which had carried the country through the war on the platform of emancipation should now carry the country through reconstruction on the platform of equal rights. He had been commanding such a reconstruction for a year past in Massachusetts, and he did not mean to abate a jot or tittle of that demand during the next session of Congress. The Republican party must become the absolute master of the situation. The President must go, he is an obstacle. It, therefore, the Republican party does not now rebuild the Union on the eternal stone of equal rights, it will bear upon its own head the undivided dishonor of betraying the negro and the nation.

Oil Regions of Pennsylvania.

It is well known that the great petroleum supply of this country comes from Pennsylvania, and chiefly from the Oil Creek district. A correspondent of the Springfield Republican gives the following sketch of that region. He says: "Oil Creek is a tributary near a hundred miles above Pittsburgh, and much of the product of the oil wells comes to market by the Allegheny. Refineries and coopers' shops are scattered along on either bank; the water of the river is covered with the oil, and often the shore for rods is covered with the nasty scum and refuse of the trade. At Salroma, twenty-two miles above Pittsburgh, we stopped to see a curious, prosperous industry. Here are salt springs; coal and lime are also, of course, abundant and cheap, as through nearly all Pennsylvania; and by importing from Greenland, where only it is found 6,000 tons yearly, the article known as Greolyte, all the materials are secured for producing various important chemicals and other choice articles valuable in the arts of manufactures. Thus they are made, in large quantities, common salt, soda, concentrated lye, oil, vitriol, muriatic acid, soda ash, copperas, and distilled and refined oils. A single company, with a capital of a million and a quarter dollars, carries on all these manufactures, besides making the paper and iron barrels in which they are packed for the market. The business is very extensive and prosperous. Here we concluded our inspection of the industries of Pennsylvania; and here, recognizing it as the last all must have felt, a gallant New Englander toasted 'the women of Pennsylvania; we recognize their character as the civilization of men; but we therefore lament the misfortune that they should be the only product of the State that has not been shown to us."

Man Killed.

A fatal accident, Carl Bruck, a German, was the victim, occurred a short time before noon on Monday, at Frederick Bausman's coal works in East Birmingham. At the time mentioned the deceased entered the pit, and very soon a man at work in another chamber heard a heavy fall. On going to ascertain the cause, Bruck was found buried beneath a mass of slate, his legs only protruding. The debris was removed immediately and the injured man carried to a house in the vicinity. It was found that his skull was crushed in by a huge piece of slate having struck him on the back of head. He was also injured about the breast and arms. He survived about an hour after the accident. Coroner Olson was held an inquest on the body yesterday morning, and the jury rendered a verdict of accidental death. The deceased was a Prussian by birth, about thirty-five years of age, and was unmarried. He has a father and two sisters living in Prussia, but has no relatives in this country, so far as is known.

Fire in the Fourth Ward.

About half past one o'clock this morning, flames were discovered issuing from the roof of Dr. J. A. Herron's stable, situate on the corner of Garrison and Irwin alleys, in the Fourth ward. The alarm was promptly given from box 23, and in a few moments after the Duquesne, Neptune and Allegheny companies were on the ground. The fire was extinguished without much damage to the premises save the burning of the roof of the building in which it originated. Two valuable horses which had occupied stalls on the ground floor of the stable were taken out without injuring any injury. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, as no light had been in the stable since the day previous.

Brought to Grief.

At a late hour on Monday night Bendigo Davis, who had been drinking muchly, became very disorderly on Liberty street, and attacked various individuals. At last he assaulted a negro, who let him have one on the nasal organ, completely knocking him off his pins. He gathered himself up, and greatly indignant at being knocked down by a "nigger" ran almost directly down Liberty street, where he was arrested and taken to the lock-up. There he again indulged in a fighting humor, and before the officers could get him into a cell he threw a stone through the window in the watch house. Yesterday morning he was committed for thirty days, in default of a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs.

Badly Hurt.

A serious accident, resulting in the injury of a German named Baumgardner, occurred on Monday afternoon at the rolling mill of Messrs. Lyon, Shorb & Co., South Pittsburgh. It appears that some of the machinery became deranged about the rolls, and Baumgardner, while attempting to adjust the same, had his left hand caught in the machinery, and before it could be checked, he had both of his legs horribly crushed. He was taken to his residence and medical aid procured. It was at first supposed that Baumgardner's legs were broken, but an examination of his injuries proved that no bones were broken, but the flesh from the foot almost to the knee was completely stripped from the bone. The injured man is doing well.

Skull Fractured.—

A man whose name we did not learn, but who is a butcher, residing in Reserve township, was driving down Ohio street, Allegheny, on Monday evening, when his horse took fright and ran furiously. At the corner of Federal street the wagon dashed against a lamp post, and the driver was thrown violently to the ground, striking his head against the curb stone with such force as to fracture his skull. He was taken into Cool & Claney's drug store, and after receiving proper attention, was conveyed home.

The Eagle Ball.

To-night the Eagle Boys, who have an enviable reputation as caterers to public enjoyment, hold a grand ball at City Hall. The arrangements made are of the most complete character, and we assure all who may attend, an evening of rare pleasure. The best music which the city affords will be in attendance.

Grand Regalia Ball.—

Zocco Lodge No. 385, of I. O. O. F., announce a Grand Regalia Ball to-morrow, Thanksgiving night, at City Hall. The managers have spared no pains to so, and we know of no better place to spend the evening. Eckles' popular band will be in attendance.

Steel Manufacture at Pittsburgh.

A correspondent of the New York Sun gives the following information regarding the manufacture of steel at Pittsburgh, Pa.: Half the steel made in the United States is manufactured here, and one-third the glass; it contains both interests; in nails it divides the manufacture with southeastern Massachusetts; it is Lowell, Lawrence, Easten, Chicopee, Worcester, Hartford, and half dozen other of your eastern manufacturing centres, rolled into one. At the head of the navigable western waters, the very focus of the grand central valley of the continent, whose eye sweeps over the whole, it is a very creator and source for it all. It contains five hundred large manufacturing establishments, including fifty glass factories, thirty-one rolling mills, forty-six iron foundries, thirty-one rolling mills, forty-six iron foundries, fifty-eight oil refineries, thirty-three machine shops, twelve boiler works, seven steel manufactories, ten brass foundries, sixteen potteries, five cotton and four woolen factories, nine plow factories, the shops for heavy forging, with white lead, chemical, saw, ax and copper works, yielding altogether a total annual product of one hundred million dollars.

Iron and steel in various forms are a third of all this, the other metals about two millions, glass five millions, oil ten millions; cottons and woolens five to six millions. The manufacture of steel has grown up almost wholly in America, within seven years. Pittsburgh is its birth place and chief center; and now of 40,000 tons used in the United states, full half is made at home, and more than half of that half here. The quality of the home made steel has fast progressed to that of the foreign; it is now used for the finest cutlery and swords, and such fastidious establishments as that of the Ames Company in Chicopee, give it warm approval and extensive sale. Even in their delicate manufactures. The turning of iron into steel is a delicate operation, requiring great skill and quick perception in the workmen. At the beginning is pig iron the first and coarser product of the ore; then the pig iron is refined by fire and manipulation into bloom iron; this is next roasted in pure charcoal for two weeks for the carbonization which is the distinctive change sought to be gained; then the metal is rolled into light, thin bars, and these carefully broken by hand and hammer into small bits, and the impure pieces carefully culled out; cruciebles or pots of about two gallons in size are filled with these bits of carbonized iron, and placed within the hottest of charcoal and oak fires, and carefully watched and tended; at a given moment, when the liquid metal has reached a certain stage of cooking—to be told by opening the crucible and looking into the yellow-white fiery contents—the crucible is withdrawn, and its contents carefully poured into molds, and cooling, becomes an ingot of steel.

The best steel made in the country is wrought out from the "spathic" ore found in the Housatonic valley of Connecticut and the United States; the iron ores of Lake Champlain and the Cornwall hills in the Lebanon valley of Pennsylvania are "magnetic," while all the other ores of Pennsylvania are "hematite," Ores from other sections, particularly Lake Superior, are brought to Pittsburgh in considerable quantities to mix with the native ores, to produce different and in some cases better metals. Perhaps one-half the ores worked at Pittsburgh are brought from other States, and one-fifth of those worked in the whole State.

TO YEARLY ADVERTISERS.

Owing to the large amount of advertising patronage with which we are favored, and for which we are duly thankful, and the increase of our circulation, altogether beyond our present means to supply as promptly as we ought, we find it generally inconvenient, and sometimes quite impossible, to insert changes for yearly advertisers, unless left at our counting-room before seven o'clock in the evening.

PRISONS AND PRISON DISCIPLINE.

Having discoursed of the increase of crime in the Commonwealth, and the causes conspiring thereto, we now pass to the next topic.

2. The Inadequacy of the Existing Penal Institutions properly to hold the Increasing Numbers of Criminals. The Western Penitentiary is so crowded that it is absolutely impossible in some essential particulars to conform to the statutes for its regulation. Doubtless the same or a similar condition of facts obtains in the Eastern Penitentiary. More room for the custody and treatment of felons is indispensable, no matter what system of detention and discipline may be pursued. The present time, therefore, is most suitable for considering the general and particular results of the system in use, and of contrasting them with the effects obtained by other methods of treatment. The expenditures necessarily involved in putting up expensive additions to the existing establishments, and in remodeling them, or in pulling down the existing buildings and erecting new ones, would be so considerable, and especially during the current period of fictitious values, that it is worth while carefully to consider what had best be done before doing anything.

The buildings now in use were designed for the system of solitary confinement. Of such confinement as a curative for moral obliquities we shall speak hereafter. Our immediate object is to state that the system now in use provides for industries to be prosecuted in solitude. Several ends are proposed to be gained by furnishing criminals with regular occupation; to give an object of thought; to furnish a means of honorable support after the term of imprisonment shall expire; to form habits of industry as a safeguard against relapsing into crime; and to defray the expenses of the prisoners. The progress of mechanical inventions has frustrated most of these ends. The same causes which have banished many forms of manufacturing industry from cottages scattered up and down the rural districts, and from the dwellings of the poorer classes in towns and cities, have made such industries incompatible with solitary confinement. The supersession of hand labor by machinery has rendered most kinds of manual toil unremunerative except as the operatives are brought together in companies. To illustrate; hand-looms are no longer a source of revenue to persons; nor can a discharged convict, by knowing how to use them, gain a decent livelihood. Power-looms must and will do the weaving. The introduction of pegging and sewing machines, in the manufacture of boots and shoes, has made it impracticable to prosecute that branch of business successfully while isolating the workmen. In most other employments a corresponding change has been wrought. And the end is not yet. Machinery tends more and more to congregate people by compelling associated industry.

As already remarked, the existing prisons are not adapted to associated labor, and the prescribed discipline does not admit of it. If solitary confinement shall be continued, it will be absolutely impossible to make the prisons self-sustaining. Isolated labor may still be prescribed for its assumed remedial advantages, but steadily, year by year, new difficulties will arise, frustrating its profitableness; nay, making it more certainly the occasion of pecuniary loss.

Under a system of congregated labor, many industries are available in prisons, both as parts of the discipline and as sources of revenue. But this is not the main point to be gained. It is most desirable that convicts should be assorted or grouped according to the degrees of experience they have had in crime, so as to prevent the less hardened and debauched from becoming more contaminated by contact with those that are steeped to the core in guilt. To confinement and occupation should be superadded careful intellectual and moral training, at the hands of persons fully competent and who feel an abiding interest in the task. Something of this is attempted under the prevailing system, but nothing persistingly and effectually. What should be the main thing is subordinate and incidental. In the case of most convicts not only has early omissions in this particular to be supplied, but perverse and destructive habits are to be uprooted and removed. This is a most difficult and delicate task; and all the more because it is necessary for the instructors to deport themselves in conduct and feeling, not as the law's avengers, but as friends, counsellors and benefactors of those for whom they watch and toil.

Another change is not less desirable than this. Convicted criminals, instead of being sentenced to undergo imprisonment for a definite number of months or years, ought to be committed for treatment, subject largely, if not entirely, to the discretion of the Prison Superintendents. It should be understood when a culprit enters a prison that he is to remain there until he gives satisfactory evidence of reformation, and that he would be discharged only by death in case such evidences did not appear. Under such a system as we have meagrely sketched, the great majority of those who enter prisons can be sent back to society, after a probation of not unreasonable duration, transformed into honest and useful citizens. Under the present system reformations are rare, indeed the rule being that an offender discharged upon the expiration of his term, will speedily be returned to the prison from which he went out, or to some other. The most dangerous members of the community now are those who have been oftenest subjected to prison discipline.

An incidental advantage of the proposed plan would consist in the abrogation of the current system of pardon. Now as soon as an individual is convicted, unless the case is flagrant to the last degree, petitions to the Governor for a pardon are immediately prepared and circulated for signature, and every one supposed to have influence with him is importuned. Let us not be understood as joining in the popular clamor against clemency. Some mistakes may be made in bestowing pardons, but fewer are pardoned than ought to be. Indeed if a youth is overtaken in a fault and sent to prison, about the only hope of saving him to his family and society lies in speedily getting him out. There is a deep consciousness of this in the public mind, which is well founded, and in which Governors, in common with their fellow citizens' fully share. If penitentiaries were what the word primarily imports, places of reformation, the case would be different. Those houses would then be refuges for many buffeted souls, who would find strength in them to renew the course of ordinary life and honestly fulfill the duties devolving on them.

A USELESS LABOR.

Mr. WENDELL PHILLIPS proposes to demonstrate, in a public lecture, that the popular conception of Mr. HORACE GREELEY is purely mythical; in plain words, that no such person exists. He had better save his pains, for there is no novelty in the idea that the common estimate of public men is erroneous. Mr. PHILLIPS must have a strong consciousness that he is not the man he has generally been represented to be for the last quarter of a century. This constantly recurring hallucination once received expression in the gruff affirmation that "no man is great in the eyes of a valet."

In this particular neither Mr. GREELEY nor Mr. PHILLIPS differs from other men who have attracted to an uncommon degree public observation. Take GEORGE WASHINGTON, for example. Does any man, in his sober senses, imagine such a character as is now popularly attributed to him, was ever exhibited in real life? One who has carefully gone over the original letters of BENJAMIN FRANKLIN in the Library at Philadelphia, begins to appreciate to what extent the actual and the ideal differ in respect to him.

So let a man turn into the realm of religious biography, and he will presently exclaim that he never encountered such people in real life. And this is true. There are saints even now, moving up and down in our daily walks, whose lives send out a precious perfume, but they are not the saints we read about in the books. The book saints never live till they are dead; that is, there are actually no such people; but the heart, guided by morbid ideas of what true excellence consists in, conjures up shadowy pictures and seeks to endow them with flesh and blood.

Mr. PHILLIPS's dissection of Mr. GREELEY, if he shall execute it in the best style of his art, will be spicy reading. We recently looked over a delineation of Mr. PHILLIPS, executed for one of the Southern journals, on the same principle, and found it decidedly caustic. Mr. PHILLIPS may have taken a hint from this production and conceived the idea of surpassing it in malignity. If he cannot, no one else need attempt the job.

REMOVALS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Among other important information conveyed by letter writers, for the benefit of the curious public, is the current report which comes to us through a dozen channels, that Mr. STEVENS is preparing a Bill to regulate appointments to office, and prevent the re-nomination of candidates who have been rejected; and this is referred to by a contemporary as though it were something in the way of progress that had been reserved for the great reformer of Lancaster.

We take occasion, however, to state that the whole subject is already before both houses in the shape of a Bill, submitted in the Senate, from Mr. HENDERSON, of Missouri, and another prepared by Mr. WILLIAMS, and reported by him from the Judiciary Committee of the House, which stands over for disposal at an early day in the ensuing session.

It was kept back, as we understand from Mr. WILLIAMS himself, for the reason that at the close of the last session it was not clear that the House was ripe for so radical a measure, and tolerably sure that the Senate was not. The effect, however, of the elections as well as of Mr. JOHNSON's demonstrations since, will doubtless be to stiffen the nerves of the timid, and show them the necessity for some legislation of this sort.

Mr. WILLIAMS will be prepared, we doubt not, to furnish the argument upon the Constitutional power of Congress over this great but somewhat difficult question, upon which so much difference of opinion seems to have heretofore prevailed.

UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY, E. D.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

AT HOME, Nov. 24, 1866.

After our long and very pleasant and interesting excursion to Fort Riley and beyond, our party reached Pittsburgh on Wednesday last, in the same admirably arranged excursion car in which the entire circuit of nearly three thousand miles—from Philadelphia to Fort Riley and back—was made. I say nearly three thousand, because we made two trips over the Pacific Railway between Lawrence and Fort Riley. On the first we ran to Junction City, three miles beyond Fort Riley, and two miles beyond the junction of the Smoky Hill and Republican branches of the Kansas. Not the slightest accident, or a single incident of an unpleasant nature, occurred. The most cordial good feeling prevailed among the several members of the party, and friendships which will last through life were formed.

Between Pittsburgh and Lawrence, in Kansas, our car, in going and returning, did not run twice over the same rail. Between Wyandotte and St. Louis (a 5½ feet track), it was set upon different trucks, and then again upon its own at the latter place. This was probably the longest excursion that was ever made in a single car.

EXCURSION TO IRON MOUNTAIN AND PILOT KNOB.

On Monday morning, the 19th, the eastern excursionists were invited to unite in an excursion to Iron Mountain and Pilot Knob, those vast and far-famed deposits of iron. Pilot Knob is, I believe, 83 miles from St. Louis, with which it is connected by railroad. We were accompanied by a large party of the ladies and gentlemen of St. Louis, and it is seldom that so intelligent and so genial a party get together. To speak of them individually would occupy more space than you would like to give; and to speak of some would be invidious. The day was bright and clear, and just cool enough to be pleasant.

The road runs along the bank of the Mississippi for nearly half the distance, through a beautiful and picturesque country, well elevated above the river. Six miles below the depot at St. Louis we stopped for a few minutes at about the centre of the city of Carondelet, and yet the two cities are now nearly united, and will be entirely so in a short time, thus making a continuous city front along the river of about nine miles in length.

Leaving the river, the road, for some forty miles, traverses a somewhat rough region, in which there are many pretty little valleys. The hills—which have more brush than timber growing upon them—are well adapted to vines and fruit trees. This part of the State is but little improved; but when it is properly improved, it will be very pretty and very valuable.

Just eight miles before we reached Pilot Knob—which at present is the terminus of the road—we came to the base of Iron Mountain. This is what, in Pennsylvania, would be called a hill. It is, perhaps, 600 feet above the little valley through which the road passes, and where there are three blast furnaces, in full operation, making some forty tons of charcoal metal daily. Here we met Mr. Harrison, one of the proprietors, whose kind attentions added greatly to the satisfaction with which the party explored and viewed this extraordinary locality. He led us about a mile, first around the base, then, on our return, directly over the summit of the mountain, which is somewhat steep, but in no place precipitous. From the base to the summit, and to an unknown depth below the base, and over an area of about five hundred and fifty acres, it is an uninterrupted mass of iron ore of the richest kind. The road over which we walked was iron; the loose pebbles, with which the surface of the mountain is plentifully covered, are all iron. A light soil, bearing some trees and bushes, cover the hill; but in many places enormous moss-covered blocks of ore jut above the surface. In one of the mines in which the men were working, we saw a solid and almost perpendicular face of ore sixty feet high. This ore yields in practical working an average of 67 per cent. By chemical analysis it would be considerably more.

After an hour spent here, we resumed our seats in the cars and ran on to Pilot Knob. This is a still vaster mass of iron ore, or at least it has that appearance. It is a pyramidal mount of about 550 feet in height, covered, like iron Mountain, with a scant growth of timber, except the summit, which, over a space of several acres, is composed of enormous masses of iron ore, piled up in grand confusion, and terminating in two huge blocks, apparently rent asunder by some ancient convulsion of nature, upon the tops of which our party assembled. The view from this summit is very extensive and pretty. Two villages lie in the quiet and fertile valley between this and Shepherd Mountain, which is a third, and a still larger mass of iron ore.

The ore of Pilot Knob is nearly black, solid, fine-grained, heavy and rich, but not quite equal to that of Iron Mountain, which, when freshly broken, has a metallic lustre, and more nearly resembles cast iron in appearance than any ore I have seen. That of Shepherd Mountain is strongly magnetic; but of its appearance and relative quality I cannot speak, for we had not time to visit it. There are two furnaces at Pilot Knob in full operation, using charcoal. At Shepherd Mountain there is at least one furnace. No mineral coal has been found in the vicinity of these immense depositories of iron. Large quantities of ore are mined and shipped to St. Louis, some of which is transported by river to this city. There is ore enough here to supply the world with iron for a thousand years.

We had a lively time on the summit of Pilot Knob. The grandeur and novelty of the situation, the brightness of the sky and the delicious purity of the air, all seemed to have an inspiring effect, especially upon the ladies. Before we descended from our lofty porch the Hon. Henry D. Blow, the Representative in the present Congress from the Second district of Missouri, made some happy remarks, in which he pointed to not far distant localities in which copper and lead mines of great extent and richness existed, and constituted another part of the boundless resources of Missouri. Mr. Blow was followed by Mr. Walter, a member of the British Parliament and the principal proprietor of the London Times. Mr. Walter is on a tour of observation through the United States. It is his first visit. He is a gentleman of great intelligence, courteous and urbane, and no one of our party seemed to enjoy himself better, or contributed more to the enjoyment of others. He is accompanied by his son, a modest, sensible and very agreeable young man, who was manifestly a favorite among the ladies. Mr. Walter's remarks were well conceived, playful and won the approbation and applause of the company.

Of the return home, with all its ringing fun and social enjoyment, and of the splendid supper at De Soto—about half way—I have no time to speak particularly; but I will venture the assertion that not soon will any of that party forget the Excursion to Pilot Knob. C.

GENERAL NEWS.

A SUIT was entered last week in the United States District Court at New York, against Major General Butterfield, upon the application of a mother for the discharge of two sons from the army, they being claimed to be minors. Gen. Butterfield, accompanied by an Aid, and followed by a file of soldiers, produced the sons in Court. Their names are John Jump and Michael Connelly. The mother of Jump swore that he was not 17 years old; that he had enlisted in the 2d Regiment United States Artillery, without the knowledge or consent of his parents or guardians, and is now held against their will and consent. It being proven that Jump, when enlisted, swore he was over 19 years old, and there being good reason to doubt his mother's veracity, he was sent back to the army.

RUFUS W. GORDEN, a young married man, living in Providence, R. I., attempted, on Tuesday, to cut the throat of his wife, from whom he was separated, but was driven off by her grandfather after inflicting sixteen severe wounds on her person. He escaped until Wednesday morning, when he came near his father's house and cut his own throat. The wounds will probably be fatal.

THE Common Council of New York are negotiating with the United States Government in reference to the purchase of the lower end of the Park as a site for the new Postoffice. The amendment made to the report by the Alderman, demanding $1,000,000 instead of $500,000, was opposed, and the sum of $750,000 named.

HON. W. D. KELLEY, of Philadelphia, lectured at Boston, on Wednesday, before the Mercantile Library Association, on "Our Relations to Civilization." The audience was very large and respectable.

THERE are now 882 convicts confined in the Ohio penitentiary, 150 more than at this time last year. The number has been steadily increasing since the close of the war.

THE Convention of locomotive engineers in Boston was busy last week in visiting the various iron and engine works about that city.

A PUBLIC school teacher in South Boston recently committed forgeries to the amount of $5,000 and decamped.

THE SEASON OF STORMS.—The blasts of autumn and the chill storms of early winter are apt to make sad inroads upon the constitutions of the feeble. In old times at the commencement of every season it was the fashion to take a strong cathartic as a safeguard against a change of temperature. It was a worse than senseless practice. The people of our day understand the matter better. Instead of depleting the system they reinforce it. In the method they adopt they exhibit a wise discrimination. Instead of resorting to the vitiated stimulants of commerce, or any of the compounds derived from them, they put their faith in the MALTBY-HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their faith is well founded. No medicine has been prepared with such scrupulous attention and discrimination in the true science of its compounds, or which exerts so genial a protective influence upon the human system in the season of the world. Now we have to contend against the diseases of the stomach, derangement of the liver, or the kidneys. In no other land, under the sun, are these maladies so general as in this country, and HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is the specific for them all. Unless organic in their origin, and therefore, beyond cure, invalids of those who are fortunate enough to be exempt from them at present understand one great fact, viz.: That an occasional course of this vitalizer, now will be certainly prevent them as the sun will prevent the earth from ice eating where its genial beams descend. —Communicated.

NOTICE TO CONSUMERS OF WATER.—The repairs now in progress at the Water Works will require the most economy should be observed in the use of water, the one engine now running being taxed to its utmost capacity. A minor consumption should be avoided, such as sprinkling streets, washing pavements, &c. Unless there is proper attention paid to these requirements the city will not have sufficient water for boiler, culinary and other necessary purposes. A non-observance of this caution may deprive the offender of a supply of water, as well as child a heavy fine.
It is hoped that in the course of three weeks or a month at the farthest, the Superintendent will be enabled to remove these restrictions.

(ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON FIRST PAGE.)

Keeping a Hotel.

The Erie Dispatch says: A man named Peer sall, opened the Fuller House at Irvineton, a few days since, and gave a grand opening dinner to all the notables. The dinner was a splendid affair, nothing being too expensive for the generosity of mine host, and as it was a free "blow out" to the invited guests, it was of course, lauded to the skies, and Peersall was an "enterprising man," "prince of good fellows," a "regular brick," etc. In getting up the banquet, Warren was sacked for delicacies, Corry furnished champagne, Tidioute was depleted of butter, the fattest turkeys of the country were collected in the barnyard of the Fuller House, an t the wallet of the proprietor tolerably well stuffed with greenbacks, advanced by various parties. But lo, "a change came o'er the spirit of the dream" shortly after the departure of the admiring guests. Those who had furnished the turkeys, the butter, the champagne, and all the other etceteras of the great feast, wanted their pay. The upholsterers, who had been extensively patronized, the large hotel being filled from top to bottom with the finest furniture, were also in want of their pay. So steady was the stream of large bills and small bills, that all the "princely proprietor" could produce in the way of cash, was but as a drop in the bucket, and he was therefore arrested and sent to jail in default of three hundred dollars bail, for his appearance at court. We should think that those who partook of this magnificent banquet, (and, John A. Logan having somewhat akin to indigestion, when they reflect on the result, as but for the unlimited outlay at the "spread," Mr. Peersall would now probably have been at work keeping his own hotel, instead of boarding at one belonging to the county in which he resides.

New Church Building.

After many years of discouragement, but constant, hopeful effort, the membership and congregation of Brown's A. M. E. Chapel have commenced the erection of a substantial brick church on their lot, situated on the corner of Boyle and Hemlock streets. The corner stone will be laid by Mount Morris and St Cyprian Lodges, No. 13, A. Y. M., assisted by the Lodges of L. and C.; the Social Band, Morning Star, Mutual Relief and other societies, on next Thursday afternoon, Nov. 29th, at two o'clock. We cordially invite the generous public to be present and contribute to the sacred cause. We have also appointed the Rev. J. W. Devine and Messrs. Will. H. Thomas, John W. Fitch and R. J. Davis, as regular agents to collect money to enable us to go on with the good work. We appeal to the people of Allegheny county of all creeds to give of their means to our agents, well knowing that whatever they may receive will be sacredly devoted to the object in whose success they are so deeply interested. REV. J. W. DEVINE, Minister in charge.

A Domestic Quarrel.

Eliza Morgan, a lady of Welsh extraction, came to the office of Justice Lippert, yesterday, and instituted legal suit against Kate Conway, for assault and battery. The parties are employed as domestics in the family of J. C. Tusler, on Shingiss street, in Pitt township. On Monday an unusually large washing was to be done, and Eliza being the cook of the establishment, on her devolved the duty of washerwoman, and Kate very properly was assigned to duty in the culinary department. In due time the noon meal was served, but the viands were not prepared as Eliza would have them, and she thought fit to express her disapprobation of Miss Conway's actions. Naturally enough this caused an irration on the part of Kate, and several hard words being exchanged between the girls, the latter struck Eliza with a dishcloth in the face. Eliza's delicate physique prevented her from engaging in a physical combat, and having no other resource left, she has tendered the humble temple of the Justice before mentioned—where redress can be had for even dishcloth assaults—and preferred the charge stated. Miss Conway has been arrested and held in $300 bail for a hearing on Saturday next.

A spicy Subject.

Messrs. Strickler & Morledge, a new firm, has taken charge of the well known and popular Iron City Spice Mills, located on Fifth street extension, near Pennsylvania avenue, and under their management this establishment will certainly gain a precedence. They pay careful attention to the manufacture of every article of spice which leaves their manufactory and warrant all to be much superior to any in the market. Their brands of mustards, peppers, ginger, cinnamon, &c., &c., are already well known and appreciated by the community. The firm pay particular attention to the roasting of coffee and ground nuts and to the chopping of suet, of which they supply a large trade. They also deal extensively in choice rye, flour and corn meal, which they supply to retail dealers at the most reasonable rates of prices. From personal acquaintance with both members of the firm and with Mr. R. J. Baxter, formerly of the Congress Mills, who is now with this establishment, we can cheerfully recommend them to the patronage of the community. They do not retail, but supply most of the first class retail dealers of the two cities.

Frightful Fall.

A terrible accident occurred at the new Deaf and Dumb Asylum building, Columbus, on Saturday evening about five o'clock. The workmen were engaged in removing the scaffolding from a newly erected arch in one of the central towers, when the arch gave way. One of the workmen saved himself by springing to an adjoining scaffold. The other, Henry Emrich, who was on the top of the arch, was carried with the falling fragments down through the five stories of the building to the basement, a distance of sixty-five feet. Both bones of his right leg were broken, as was the thigh bone of his left leg, and his skull was fractured in two places. He fell with the detached brickwork of the arch, which in the downward passage broke the joists in each floor, carrying the fragments with the general mass. Emrich was taken from this rubbish, carried into the hospital of the Institution, where Drs. Smith and Fullerton dressed his wounds. He was afterwards carried to his house on Washington avenue.

Robbery of Blankets.

Nicholas Vogeity came to the office of Alderman Hutubert, yesterday, and lodged an information against Samuel Jamison, charging him with the larceny of a number of woolen blankets from a flat-boat lying in the Allegheny river near the Suspension bridge. The theft is said to have been perpetrated some time last winter, but what become of the goods, or who had stolen them remained a perfect mystery, until yesterday morning when Jamison went to a third party, who fortunately knew of the robbery, and endeavored to negotiate a sale of the purloined property. Vogeity was made cognizant of this fact, and repairing to the office of the magistrate above named, instituted proceedings as stated. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Jamison who resides on Marbury street in the First ward.

Froze to Death.

A man named John P. Williams froze to death on Friday night on the Mercer road, about three miles from Meadville. He had been in Meadville during the day, where he made sundry small purchases, among them a bottle of whisky. He was partially intoxicated when he left town. The spot where his body was found was at the forks of two roads, within hailing distance of a house; but it is probable that the vile stuff which he had drank had so stupefied him as to render him unable to give an alarm.

Williams belonged in Greenwood Township. He was about fifty years of age and a good mechanic, but had given himself to habits of dissipation which finally wrought his ruin.

Important Verdict.

The case of McMullen and Bryan vs the East Oil Creek Petroleum Company, of Philadelphia, was tried by the Court of Common Pleas, at Meadville, on Monday, and a verdict rendered for the plaintiffs. The suit was brought for the recovery of the value of property furnished by the plaintiffs to an agent of the oil company. Subsequently the Company repudiated the action of their agent in making purchases without their express sanction. They paid all bills contracted by their order, and the plaintiffs sued for the recovery of the balance, receiving a verdict in their favor for the sum of $276.35, the full amount claimed, with interest.

An Extraordinary Place.—We learn from the Wellsburg Herald, that the Grand Jury in Hancock county met, sat and adjourned on Tuesday last, without finding a single bill of indictment against any party; the first time such an occurrence has taken place in our recollection—a fact that not only indicates an improvement in morals, but is highly creditable to the character of the county.

Shocking Accident.—A Mr. Leedom, of Shelby county, Ohio, in attempting to get on the cars at Bellefontaine, a few days ago, while the train was in motion, slipped, and after hanging by his hands for a short time, was caught by the wheel, dragged on the track and literally cut in two by the wheels passing over him.

Called a Fool.—Mary Radnon appeared before Alderman Lynch yesterday, and made oath against Bridget Freik for surety of the peace. Mary alleges that Bridget called her an Irish fool, and threatened to "wring her neck". A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Sudden Death.—John R. Maberry, a lawyer of Parkersburg, a man who has devoted himself to raising blooded horses, died very suddenly while sitting in his carriage at the race course at that place, the other day, watching the running of his favorite horse, Lath.

EARLY TELEGRAMS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The President's Message Before the Cabinet—Rumors of its Import—The Welcome to Congress.

WASHINGTON, November 27.—A full Cabinet session is gathered at the White House to-day, and it is understood that the message in proof sheets has been surrendered to each of the Ministers in attendance. It is rumored with such pertinacity and from so many sources that the document in question will contain elements or compromise—that it is safe to conclude there is some basis in truth for the assertion that the message will parade some high sounding terms, as heretofore, concerning the sanctity of constitutional precedents, and Mr. Johnson himself avers even now that Congress must come to him rather than be yield to Congress. But the whole tenor of the message will be to disclaim the latter intention, as well as pointedly indicating the manner by which the executive may be approached with a view to reconciliation.

Congressmen are arriving very slowly, and those who are here are either reticent concerning matters of the majority, or else given to extreme moderation in the expression regarding the situation. It is evident that the Republican organization is under the best of party disciplines, and will leave the future to be shaped in the councils of the caucus to be held the night before the meeting of Congress.

The mass welcome to Congress will be a grand success, judging by the profuse preparations that are going forward for the procession and banquet. Gen. John A. Logan having declined to be chairman of the festivities of the board, Hon. Hannibal Hamlin will probably be induced to accept the post.

The Claims Against the Alabama—Financial and Commercial.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A letter is published in the Daily News to-day, stating that the government has voluntarily re-opened the case of the privateer Alabama. Mr. Seward, on behalf of the American government, demanded the settlement of the claims for damages by that vessel some two months ago.

Working of the Revenue System in Boston.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A World's Boston special says: There is growing dissatisfaction with regard to the working of the Revenue system. A case was brought on in the Circuit Court to-day, in which a party had been indicted for selling liquor without a United States license. The plea of defendant was that the United States could not take money legally from persons carrying on what was held to be an unlawful business. The court ordered that the arguments be submitted in writing to the Supreme Court, the Judges of the Circuit Court being unable to agree on the question.

From Texas—Emigrants Pouring In—Outrages by Federal Troops.

NEW YORK, November 27.—The World's Baltimore special says: The New Orleans papers received this afternoon contain later dates from Texas. Large numbers of emigrants were pouring into the interior of the State, a portion of whom were of foreign birth, but the majority were from Arkansas and Missouri. The influx had caused buildings to become very scarce, and in Rusk county it was impossible to get out lumber fast enough to provide shelter for the new comers.

The Federal troops stationed at Yazoo were annoying themselves by appropriating horses of residents which once taken were never returned.

Many of the settlers in Montague, Jack, Wise and Mesquite counties, had been driven from their homes by Indians.

Late Southern Items.

A number of propositions encouraging immigration are before the Georgia Legislature. Among them is one to repeal the laws prohibiting aliens from holding real estate. Resolutions inviting immigration were introduced.

It takes a hopeful view of the present condition of affairs, and attributes the depression of agriculture and business in the State, to the "results of the late conquerors," and urges that the white population should be stimulated to work by letting them see that labor is honorable and thence reprehensible.

The message is mainly devoted to State affairs, and says the result of the experiment of free labor has been highly encouraging under the circumstances. FINANCE AND TRADE.

TUESDAY, November 27, 1866.

New York stock quotations to-day, as reported by Robinson, McClean & Co., were as follows: Gold, 141½; 1881's, 113; 5-20's, 109; do '65, 107; 5-20s, new 105; 7-30's, first series, 105½; second series, 105¾; Michigan Southern R. R., 83½; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 86½; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 100½; Erie R. R., 73½; Union Telegraph Company, 48; Chicago & North Western, 105½; Chicago & Rock Island, 101.

—It is stated in telegrams from Washington that the secretary of the Treasury, in his forthcoming report, will ask for further power to fund the floating and non-interest bearing obligations of the Government, and will likewise urge a more concentrated system of redemption of National bank notes as a necessary preliminary to a resumption of specie payments. Mr. McCullough thinks, with proper legislation, we may return to a specie standard within eighteen months. The course of the Secretary in offering to receive from the National banks compound interest notes at par and interest in payment of their obligations to the Treasury, has restored confidence in New York and stayed the panic. The announcement of this purpose, which was made on Friday, had the effect of immediately relieving the stringency at the banks. This will save the National bank depositories the necessity of liquidating transfer drafts upon them in greenbacks; and at the same time will enable the government to retire a portion of this class of obligation.

—The conversion of compound notes and seven-thirties into the new five-twenties is still going on. The continued purchases of the old five-twenties for Europe have greatly reduced the supply of this variety upon the market. The new are, of course, worth more than the old, as they have longer to run. The new (July) sixty-fives are the cheapest governments in the market. There is no foreign demand for registered five-twenties of 1862, seven-thirties, first series, are in demand for conversion into five twenties, and consequently sell higher than the seconds and thirds. The seconds and thirds have one year longer to run, and are the best to hold.

The Evening Post this Saturday notices a return of greenbacks and national bank notes from the interior to that city during all last week, at the rate of $300,000 to $500,000 per day, and much more than this would be much larger this week, owing to the change in the money market. The probability is that interest will soon be back to 6 per cent again, with a surplus accumulating in New York ready to deliver any time during the month at their option. Free oil is dull and unchanged.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, Nov. 27, 1866.

There is no improvement to note in the tone of the general markets, and it must be confessed that the prospects at present are not very encouraging. The demand for Flour, Grain, Provisions and many other articles, we might mention, is very much restricted, buyers being to disposed to hold off, in anticipation of a material decline in values, and this being the case, we have but very few round lot operations to report.

GRAIN—Wheat is dull, though, there is but little offering; sale of 1 car No. 1 Spring at $2,25. Oats quiet and unchanged; sales on track at 56 to 57, and in store, at 55 to 55. Barley is unsettled, and a little dull; we can report a sale of 400 bush Spring Barley, in first hands, at $1, and 300 bush do, in store, at $1,10. Rye is quoted at $1,25 to $1,30. Sale of 1 car new Ear Corn at 75.

FLOUR—Is dull and neglected but without quotable change. Sales in store at $12 to $12½ for Spring Wheat; and $13 to $13½ for Winter Wheat. Rye Flour is selling at $8½; Cornmeal at $5; and Buckwheat at $4 to $4½ per cwt.

POTATOES—There is a fair demand for Peach Blows, and the market may be quoted firm at 70c for prime sales in store, car load at this figure. New Jersey Sweets are quoted at $5 per bbl.

APPLES—Continue to arrive very freely, and with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, prices are barely maintained. We quote in a regular way from store at $2 to $3 per bbl, for fair to choice.

CHEESE—Is very dull, and we quote nominally at 16 for Western Reserve; 17 to 18 for Hamburg; 18 to 19 for Factory, and 19 to 20 for Goshen.

BUTTER—Is dull, with a supply somewhat in excess of the demand; prime Roll is selling at 29 to 30—choice, in small packages, 31 to 32.

EGGS—In good demand, and fresh packed sell readily at 28.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches dull but unchanged—we quote at 18 for quarters; 20 for Unpeeled; and 22 to 23 for prime halves. Apples very dull; may be quoted at 9½ to 10c.

SEEDS—Flaxseed in good demand at $3. Timothy Seed is dull, with small sales at $2 and Cloverseed at $9.

SCOUGHUM—Is dull, with small sales of good to prime at 65 to 65c.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, November 27, 1866.

CRUDE—There was again a moderate demand for Crude to-day, but the market is no better than on Monday, and prices are maintained, and that is about all. We quote at 9½ to 10c, bbls returned and in bulk, and 14½ to 15, bbls included—low gravities may be quoted fr m ¼ to ½ a cent higher. Sale of 140 at 10, 500 at 10, 100 at 10½, and 250 (40 to 45 gravity) at 9½. The sale of three thousand barrels at 9 cents, to arrive, reported yesterday—the buyer furnishing the boats free of all expense and they—it is claimed will not exceed 9½ cents landed—is not confirmed. We have no late advices from Oil City, but the eastern markets remain unchanged.

REFINED—There was a fair demand for bonded oil to-day, mainly for future delivery, and while the market is steady prices have undergone no change. Sale of 1000 bbls for January, 500 do for February, 500 do for March option, at 34; 1000 do do same month, at 34; 1000 do do same month and price; 500 do same month, at 34½, and 500 for immediate delivery, at 27½ per gal. The inquiry for December is quite liberal this week, owing to the change in the market. The probability is that interest will soon be back to 6 per cent again, with a surplus accumulating in New York ready to deliver any time during the month at their option. Free oil is dull and unchanged.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals were reported to-day:

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point with scant five feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. At Oil City, the telegraph reports twenty-eight inches in the Allegheny and falling. The weather yesterday was cool and frosty in the early part of the day, but to-wards evening, it moderated considerably and there was every appearance of more rain.

The Argosy, from Cincinnati, with an excellent trip, and the Lent Leoti, from Parkersburg, are the only arrivals we have to report from below. The latter boat cleared again on time.

The new steamer Glendale cleared for St. Louis yesterday afternoon, with all the freight she could take on the water, and a fair number of passengers. The Glendale is without doubt, one of the finest boats of her class that has been here for some time, and we think, our down river correspondents will agree with us when they see her.

It is rumored that Com. Pender has severed his connection with the "Pan Famile" Railroad, and gone back to his early stamping ground, the levee, to look after the interests of our steamboat friends. His office is located in the corner of Wood and Water streets, in close proximity to the fire plugs.

The Argosy, Capt. Vandergrift, with Mr. W. H. Scott, in the office, is the regular packet for Cincinnati on Sunday, leaving promptly at noon. She is a neat and speedy craft, has an excellent accommodations for passengers, and is in charge of careful and experienced officers.

The Camelia, Capt. Lytle, will positively leave for Nashville and all intermediate points to-day, and her passengers and shippers should bear this fact in mind. The Camelia will take freight for all points between here and Nashville, including Cincinnati and Louisville.

The Wabash, Capt. Thos. Shuman is now in turn for St. Louis, and will be ready to leave during the latter part of the week.

The Importer, Capt. Noss, is the "Express Packet" for St. Louis, and will at once commence loading for that point. Capt. Noss expects to get a considerable amount of railroad freight.

The Bayard, Capt. Geo. D. Moore, is the regular Thursday packet for Parkersburg, leaving promptly at noon.

The Bellpreson left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Saturday with a fair trip, including 130 tons of iron, of which she puts off one hundred tons at Wheeling. The Glasgow left Cincinnati on Sunday for St. Louis, and the Maggie Hays was advertised to leave there for Pittsburgh on Monday.

The Memphis Avalanche gives the following version of the arrest of Capt. Hazlett, of the Rubicon—Capt. H is a Pittsburgher:

The Revenue Officer at Napoleon, in our sister State of Arkansas, must certainly have graduated in the army, and had only the deleaseless to deal with while he exercised his authority. He evidently has not forgotten the way to hurry men off to prison without a hearing of any cause. When the steamer Rubicon came up, about two weeks since, and took on board thirty-nine bales of cotton at Caroline landing, in the State of Mississippi. The cotton was consigned to Jo h on & Wright, in this city. On the arrival of the boat at Napoleon, Arkansas, a man asked the clerk if they had any cotton on which the tax had not been paid. The clerk replied they had some, received in Mississippi. The inquirer then said he would receive the taxes here, to which the clerk replied that he did not know that any tax could be paid in Arkansas. The chap walked away. The boat shortly afterward backed out, and on her arrival here the cotton was delivered to the consignees and the boat started on her return trip down of the Rubicon, when she landed at Napoleon, this same chap walked aboard with his pockets bulging out. Captain Haslett without giving the Captain time to say anything or any chance to get advice, he was hurried to Little Rock. The clerk, Mr. Grissom, went with the boat to Little Rock, and on his return, when the boat again landed at Napoleon, the indefallegable and ov r zealous tax collector took possession of her—seized her in the name of all sovereignty, and because, forsooth, he was swindled out of a few dollars, which otherwise he would have received at a weighing fee. Mr. Grissom with difficulty got the officials to allow the boat to come up this port with a government officer in charge. On arrival here yesterday, the United States Attorney, we learn, decided that the boat was out of the jurisdiction of the United States Courts, and could not be held. She went on her way to St. Louis, and the officer who came on her had to find some other conveyance down. We learn upon good authority, that this cotton was not subject to tax in Arkansas, and that the tax collector had no particle of authority to try to extort it. He has not heard the last of this matter.

The Evansville Journal, of Saturday, says that Miss McPherson, a passenger on the Charmingham, was robbed on the night of the 23d, on her way up the river, of a check for $3,800 and about $40 in money. Her portmonie and her wallet were both abstracted from her pocket. The check was drawn by her father in order and was not endorsed. It will, therefore, be of no profit to the adroit rogue who abstracted it.
